West, Sorensen, Peterson Commence Royal Reign Over Snow Carnival Fete

by Jim Bartleson - Universe Editorial Associate

Miss Sandra West, a freshman from Pocatello, Ida., has been chosen by the students and the snow carnival committee to reign over this week's Snow Carnival events.

Her two attendants are Mary Sorensen of Salt Lake, and Elaine Peterson of Portland, Ore.

Miss West is a graduate of Pocatello High school where she was a member of the Ski Club, Girls' Council, Pep Club and the Drill team.

These girls were chosen from 17 contestants on winter sports ability, popularity, personality, poise, beauty, posture, speaking voice and overall appearance in formal dress.

The queen and her attendants will be crowned on today's assembly.

Activities Scheduled

Novel and competitive skating events will be held at the Provo Boat harbor at 7 p.m. Friday. Every student regardless of experience or skill is eligible to enter. Immediately following the skating events a dance will be held in the Boat House for all participants. Refreshments will be served, admission will be 25 cents and dress will be skate tops.

Transportation will be available for all those who do not have a way to the Boat Harbor. Students may board the buses in front of Campus Dorm at 6:30 p.m. Cost for the round trip will be 25 cents.

Skiers will get their chance to compete Saturday at Timp Haven. The contests will begin at 11:30 a.m. and will include cross-country races and a slalom. Unskilled skiers may enter snow shovel, slushpan and barrel stave races.

Transportation will also be furnished to Timp Haven, with the buses leaving the Social hall at 10 a.m. Saturday. Cost for this trip will be 50 cents. Scoring for the skating and skiing will be the same.

Contestants will receive 15 points for first place, ten for second, five for third and one point for every entrant who finishes. All points awarded will be applied toward the Supremacy trophy.

Dance Highlights Week

The annual Snow Carnival dance will be held Saturday night at the Social hall and Smith ball room under the theme of "Crystal Capers." The dance will be begun at 8:30 p.m. and dress will be heels and hose. Admission will be 75 cents per couple and tickets will be on sale today and Friday. Music will be furnished by Gus Seneels and Don Toomey.

During intermission the queen will receive gifts donated by the various department stores in downtown Provo. The first place trophies for the week's events will also be awarded.

Brooklyn College President Sets Assembly, Lyceum Appearances

Dr. Harry Gideonse, president of Brooklyn College, N. Y., will address the Brigham Young student body in assembly this morning and will also appear on the BYU Community Concert series at 8:15 p.m. in the Provo Tabernacle.

Titled, "Are Communist teachers entitled to academic freedom?" Dr. Gideonse's address

Dr. Gideonse has also been a faculty member of Rutgers, the University of Chicago, Barnard and Columbia.

IOC Members Advance Pledge Plans

Three proposals to solve rushing problems at Brigham Young University were presented to the Inter-Organization Council members Monday night by student leaders.

Also brought up in the meeting for a vote at the next bi-weekly meeting was an amendment offered by Russ Mickelson, IOC president, to make first quarter freshmen eligible for membership of geographical units.

Pledge Proposal

Dick Wilkins, Bricker president, proposed at the close of the meeting that pledging be extended to a full quarter.

Mr. Wilkins' plan, together with the two others, will be studied in a sub-committee headed by Glenn Davis, Tausig vice president.

An amendment for each person desiring to join a unit to submit these choices for units was proposed by Mr. Davis. The units would be given the privilege of selecting from those the applicants that meet their standards. Each unit would submit a quota prior to receiving applications.

Vote on Opinion

Because small social units would be operating at a disadvantage with few members this quarter, Mr. Mickelson submitted a proposal. Rush activities later in the quarter would be added to the regular rush program.

Only units with fewer than 20 members would apply to the Central Committee of IOC for this plan to operate. Rush parties and open houses would be combined to save finances, Mr. Mickelson said.

Elder Marion G. Romney of the Council of Twelve stated Sunday at Provo Stake Conference that every member of social units at BYU must feel wanted. He opposed any change in rushing which might make students think they did not belong.

Improvement Shown By Icy Slope Victim

The condition of Robert Chambers, BYU student, injured Tuesday when he slipped on an icy campus sidewalk, has improved, according to Health Center authorities. Mr. Chambers suffered a brain concussion and minor head lacerations.

Honor Council Sets Support Ais Goal

A support rather than a contest! Such is the slogan of the Honor Council as Honor Education Week swings into its final phase Thursday and Friday, according to Craig Carpenter, council representative.

A brochure designed to explain the purposes and helps of the Honor System will be distributed to all students, Mr. Carpenter said. The scope and program.

Variety Series Scheduled For Paramount Theatre

"It's Showtime," the first in a series of weekly variety and musical programs will be presented tonight at the Paramount theatre at 9 p.m.

The shows are sponsored by the Student Program bureau through the cooperation of Breck Pagn, owner of the Paramount theatre.

The first variety show in 1952, resulted in the establishment of a scholarship fund for Brigham Young University students. Last year this fund presented 26 achievement awards to outstanding students in the entertainment field.

Raising of these funds is done through cooperation with Mr. Pagn, the originator of the program idea. He donates $100 to the scholarship fund after each performance of the variety shows.

According to Janie Thompson, adviser to the Student Program bureau, the series will feature BYU traveling to many lands. The concluding show will be on May 1.

Dick Ballou and his Wise Men; the Deitones with Elaine Sorensen, Kay Moody and Carolyn Callister; and Bryan Renstrom, master of ceremonies will begin the show.

One of the attractions is the Brighamettes, a dancing group

Banyan Sales End Monday

"Neither love nor money" can buy a Banyan after Feb. 1. Keith Hayes, sales manager, announced Thursday.

The Banyan sales deadline, Monday, is actually an advanced deadline over last year's deadline. According to Mr. Hayes, the record includes schools functions up to and including April, with a special opening for Y Day in May.

Record of Activities

No copies of this year's record of activities will even be printed other than those sold by Feb. 1. Sales personnel are trying to convert "every single" person on campus in an effort to break last year's record sale of 3800 Banyans. Sales so far are over 3000.

The books may be purchased from the individual salespeople, from the booths in the Smith and Science lobbies, or in the Banyan

Examinations Are Set For Feb. 1-5

Whether it's boning, cramming or something else, that time is now, because mid-term examinations are next week, Feb. 1-5.

Although mid-term examinations are nothing new, they have only in recent quarters been confined to a specific week, according to Wesley P. Lloyd, dean of students.

Dean Lloyd stated further, "Because of the variety of procedures among teachers with reference to mid-term evaluations, there has not been set for this quarter a specific week in which all mid-terms must be centered. Mid-term examinations are left to the arrangement of each teacher in contrast to the specified mid-term week of last quarter."

Class Remembered By White Benches

All I want for graduation is a nice white bench. And this is exactly what the senior class has done for its project of the year 1952-53.

In their never ending search for something that would be appropriate for the school as a going away present, the senior class came upon the idea of putting benches on the campus. The idea was thought of by Gene Smith, past vice president of the studentbody, and acknowledged by all the seniors as an exceptionally good project.

Class president Harold Christensen and those assigned to work on the class project contacted a lumber block company in Salt Lake City for the cost of some stone benches. They found the best and sturdiest benches were made of cement construction and then rubbed to a smooth finish.

Each student was charged $2 for his donation toward the class project. The whole project cost $400 and was raised by the seniors alone.

There are twenty-five benches in all, and are to be placed after all the buildings have been built. The school architect has the problem of placing them where they will be most decorative, and available to those who like to sit on benches in the good old springtime.

'Student Counseling in Japan' By Dr. Lloyd Just Off Press

Dr. Wesley P. Lloyd, dean of students, is author of "Student Counseling in Japan," a volume published by the University of Minnesota Press. The book, subtitled, "A Two-Nation Project in Higher Education," tells of the year (1951-52) Dean Lloyd spent as director of Japanese Universities Institutes for Student Personnel Services.

The book contains 204 pages which are divided into nine chapters, 11 appendices, and an index.

Distribution will be handled by the publishers and the United States State department will send copies of the book to the 426 Japanese universities selected universities in the U. S. and universities in Europe. The Heber J. Grant library will soon receive a copy.

Arthur S. Adams, president, American Council on Education, stated in the forward that publication was initially made possible by a contract between the American Council on Education and the State department.

The book is the report of the year in which Dean Lloyd initiated the program of reorganizing the student personnel services in the universities of Japan. The Japanese Ministry of Education and representatives of universities of that country sought aid of American Council on Education, which sent Dean Lloyd as director.

As director of the project he acted as a liaison specialist from universities of the United States, to go to Japan for one year. While there they conducted conferences for university presidents, institute courses for faculty members of Japanese universities, and made visits to university campuses to assist with organizational problems.

Agnes Moorehead Prepares S. L. Stage Performance

Agnes Moorehead, of movies, radio and stage, will present an evening of dramatic entertainment in Kingsbury Hall, University of Utah campus, on Saturday, at 8:15 p.m. Miss Moorehead's single performance is sponsored as an extra event and is not on the regular season of plays.

There is a special half price rate of 75¢ for students from Brigham Young University wishing to attend. Reserved seat tickets may be purchased through Harold I. Hansen, speech department, for $1 for students only and does not include faculty.

Charles Laughton, Miss Moorehead's director, has been working intensively with the program.

New Teachers Meet

Because many superintendents are planning to visit the Brigham Young University campus early this year to begin recruiting activities, prospective teachers who will finish this year are asked to meet Tuesday, Feb. 5, in College Hall at 1:15 p.m.

Honor Week

celebrates followed under the system will also be included.

"It is intended to emphasize the helpfulness phase of honor work rather than the ornate aspect. Students must realize that the Honor Council goes all the way to help a confused student," Mr. Carpenter continued. Suggestion boxes have been placed in both the Physical Science and Joseph Smith Building lobbies in any helpful notes concerning the system.

Education Week started last Sunday with a keynote speech in the North Campus Branch Sacramento meeting and will be concluded by a speech at the Campus Branch Sacramento meeting this Sunday.

A program was presented Monday for the 799 new students and the Freshman Honor Boosters sponsored the new dance Wednesday in an effort to further student understanding. Mr. Carpenter said.

AGNES MOOREHEAD
... Wrong number

Mr. Laughton says, "Agnes Moorehead is great because, without being a dazzling beauty actually, she is able to create the illusion of queenliness, regal bearing, and sex appeal in its loftiest conception of dramatic femininity. Besides which she is a great talent whose ability is matched by a real, not assumed, modesty. What I think may justly be defined as the humility of genius." Her program has creativity and brilliance; comedy and suspense.

Miss Moorehead has been enthusiastically acclaimed for her performances from coast to coast in the stage production of "Don Juan in Hell," her radio performance of "Sorry, Wrong Number," "Citizen Caine," and "Mayor of the Town" in the movies.

Many Students Are Served Daily by Registrar's Office

by Rose Workman
Universe Editorial Associate

The record keeping department of Brigham Young University is the Office of the Registrar, located on the second floor of the Manner building.

Anywhere from several hundred to a thousand students are served daily by this office, according to Lucille Spencer, acting registrar. The number served varies according to the time of the quarter with the heaviest service coming the first two or three weeks.

Students may receive help in changing and completing their registration, as well as checking on their grades and credits.

Ten Assistants

Nine or ten full and part time assistants are employed in the office under the direction of Miss Spencer. She was appointed to this position following the resignation of John E. Hayes.

Complete academic records for every student who ever registered at Brigham Young University are kept on permanent file. These records, ranging from the founding of the school to the present, are kept in a vast filing system, and any record can be found in a few minutes.

Records Closed

Records in the department are closed to everyone except the student directly concerned. Each one includes a transcript of all high school and college credits completed by a student, his grades in all completed classes, records of class changes, and

Government Sets Scientists Exams

Senior bacteriologists, psychologists, social science analysts, and statisticians may take examinations for Junior Professional Assistants and Junior Government Assistants, to be given in the Provo Post Office. Applications must be filed with the Placement bureau by Feb. 2, according to Keith Duffin, Placement bureau director.

Success in the examinations will lead to government careers in these fields and also in Federal Government Field installations.

A representative of Hill Air Force Base will be at the Placement office to discuss any other information pertinent to a student's scholastic history. A student may see his own record by request at the office.

Although the main responsibility of the Registrar's Office is record keeping, the huge task of registering the large number of students each quarter is also a task of this department. Through the years they have achieved an outstanding success in their adjustment of the registration process from 29 students in the first year of the school to the record enrollment of 6938 in the fall quarter of this year.

System of Purchasing Speeches Honored by Students, Faculty

Honesty prevails among the vast majority of Brigham Young University's students and faculty in the honor system of purchasing Tuesday assembly speeches indicate.

According to H. P. Clark, Extension division director, reports show that the number of speeches distributed on the stands across the campus and money received from the voluntary price fee is approximately corresponding.

The plan of voluntarily paying ten cents for each speech was put on trial at the beginning of this year as a method of circulating the speeches of general Church authorities and others to the student body. It enables students to pick up the printed talks at their leisure, and to look them over to find the desired speeches.

Preparing the speeches for distribution is a long and tedious process, stated Mr. Clark. First, the talks are tape recorded. They are then recorded on audiograph disks, from which a typist trans-scribes them onto a rough draft.

A copy of this draft is sent to Robert L. Thompson of the English department for correction. The corrected copy is given to the speaker and the assembly's presiding officer for further corrections and comment.

After all corrections are made, the final draft is typed on a stencil, duplicated, with pages numbered, and approximately 1,000 copies are distributed by the Deia Plis to stands located throughout the campus. Various talks, such as the one by the late Elder Matthew Cowley, have passed the mark of 4,000 copies sold.

Summer Catalogue Available Feb. 1

Summer school catalogue of Brigham Young University is scheduled to come off the press Feb. 1, according to Professor Ardel S. Ballif, dean of the summer school and chairman of the sociology department.

The BYU summer session is a regular quarter of school; the catalogue will carry a full quarter's work. Students will be able to take subjects from any department as well as fill their graduation requirements. By attending summer school, it is possible for a student to complete his college training in three years instead of four.

The summer session is divided into two five week terms. In each of these terms a student may earn up to nine hours credit.

The summer quarter tuition for each five week term is $35 for a regular student and $20 for a new student.

According to Dean Ballif, the BYU summer school program is always very rich and the finest teachers are brought in for each department.

Albert M. Sconberg Winner of Contest

Albert Sconberg, Bountiful, was named winner of the first Tau Kappa Alpha extemporaneous speech contest on Brigham Young University campus, according to TKA officers Jack Zenger and Dick Wilkins. Provo, placed second and third, respectively.

The ten contestants chose three topics from current events and then chose one to talk 30 for seven minutes after 30 minutes preparation. They were judged on choice of subject, understanding, organization, preparation, and general delivery.

This was the first time this meet was sponsored on this campus. TKA is a forensic honorary fraternity dedicated to foster more forensic activities. It is sponsoring the TKA junior varsity debate tournament ending this week.

Awards will be given to the winners at the end of the debate tournament.

Brigham Young Grads Receive Scholarships

Two graduates of Brigham Young University are in England studying or teaching under the Fulbright Act.

Karna J. Christensen, Elsinore, is teaching at the Endowed Girls' School at Walsby, Kent, England. She graduated in 1946. Melvin Mabey, Provo, is studying political science at Saint Antony's College, Oxford University, England. He received his B.S. degree here in 1947 and his M.A. in 1952.

Student Directory Supplement Now Being Compiled

A mid-year supplement to the student directory at Brigham Young University will be published for the first time in Winter quarter, announced Dr. Oliver Smith, chairman of student publications.

The 1953-54 directory supplement will be a 16-page booklet containing approximately 1,200 names. These will include more than 750 new registrants who entered BYU winter quarter and 400 or more students living in men's dormitories, where new telephone extensions have been installed since the publication of the directory last quarter.

Following the same style as the regular directory, the supplement will list each student's name, home town, local address, and telephone number, year in school, and college in which registered.

Compilation of the directory is handled by members of White Key, honorary service organization at BYU. Lu Markham, Concord, Calif., is editor and Franklin R. Haymore, BYU Press manager, is faculty adviser.

Picture Appointments Set For Seniors, Graduates

Seniors and graduate students can have their placement pictures taken at the Brigham Young University Photo Studio Wednesday, Feb. 2, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Thursday, Feb. 4, from 1:30 p.m.

According to Edgar M. Jensen, director of placement, a fee of 65¢ per person will be charged to cover the making of 25 prints suitable for sending out with applications for jobs. The fee will be collected at the time the pictures are taken.

Fellows are asked to wear a shirt, tie, and coat, and girls should avoid extreme patterns in their dress.

Diamond Jubilee

by Mary Alice Sauls — Universe Society Writer

The cold, snowy weather hasn't affected the romantic notions of students at BYU. In fact, the glistening snow seems only to have set a romantic background. The glittering snowflakes are dimmed only by the radiance of sparkling diamond rings.

Karen Sedgwick, Sponsor member, is thrilled over her diamond that was a gift from Athenian Harold Empey, who is now serving in the armed forces. Karen plans to continue her schooling for the present time. Harold's sister Marlene Empey, former Y songleader, is also engaged. Her fiancé, Bud Baker is in the armed forces in California. Marlene has not been at school this quarter, but she is planning to return spring quarter to continue her schooling.

Two juniors, Morris Petersen and Donna Swethart are now engaged. Morris is associated with the BYU basketball team. Donna Lee Kell, a student from Montana, is linking her name with J. Lynn McBride, a junior from Idaho.

News of the engagements of two Y graduates will be of special interest to many students. Dianne Rasmussen, who was a White Key and Kappa Kappa Gamma affiliate while attending BYU, is now engaged to Russ Rasmussen. Another graduate, Dawn Benson is the fiancée of Karl Sandberg, who is now enrolled at Brigham Young University as an English major.

Briker Main Perry presented Marilyn Tall, former homescoming queen attendant, with a diamond ring. No definite marriage plans have been made as yet. Now engaged and contemplating marriage are Marlene Rees and Wally Ladlow, of Salt Lake. Another Salt Lake, Ed Whiting recently presented Bonnie Cahoone with a diamond. Plans for a marriage in July are being formulated. Dianne Rasmussen from Idaho is announcing her betrothal to John Parkerson.

Freshman Janet Stephens of Roosevelt is planning a marriage to Leon Ross, who hails from Arcadia, Utah. Also a freshman student, Carolyn Pratt is proudly wearing a diamond from J. Richard Law. Glyn Scott, a Y Caliente supporter, announces her recent engagement to Dick Hall, who comes from California. Jean Anderson, a freshman from Arizona, just received a diamond from Kenyon Wilson, a student at the University of Arizona. Last Friday Jewel Cloward, Val Noron member, was the recipient of a sapphire from Lee Krell, former Y student. Dwayne Stevenson, who is soon to depart on a mission in France, and Karen Cottam, a freshman from Maryland, are making known their engagement. While at school, Dwayne acted as director of pep activities, and Karen is currently working on the Bengay staff.

New romances at BYU are being announced by recently pinned couples. Leandra McKell, a Val Noron member, is now wearing the Athenian pin of Eugene King, who recently departed to serve on a mission in the Hawaiian Islands. Nautilus Mar Johnson was pinned by Worth Bellamy just a few days ago.

Former student, Barbara Manroe is now Mrs. John Mario Bowen. They are living in California where John is serving with the U. S. Army. While on the campus Barbara was affiliated with Cami Los, a charter member. Letay Hallett recently took Mary Middle as her bride. Letay hails from Arizona and Mary comes from Las Vegas. They were married in the Mesa Temple.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Riddled ties, carnation corsages, and paddles of every size and shape are accompanied with monotone choruses and blood-shot eyes as social units commencing this week's "giving."

Pledges of the TAUSIG social unit Monday night, played host to the presidents of the women's social units. Attired in tuxedos and dinner jackets, complete with paddles, the pledges escorted the girls to China City for dinner and a short program.

Colleen Young was in charge of the first NAUTILUS pledge party held Wednesday night and Ferol Holman supervised the "Under the Sea Banquet." Speakers for their respective Sunday night were Crawford Gates, with Dixie Tuttle and Jerry Heddon making arrangements.

Initiation for LAMBDA DELTA SIGMA pledges will be Friday at 7 p.m. in 250 J.S. A special feature will be nominations for the Sweetheart of LDS. Attendance is compulsory for old members and pledges at the semi-formal affair.

An aftergame party following the Montana game last Friday, held at the Jockoquin school was sponsored by the NINTH QUORUM OF ELDERS. Cookies baked by two of its members were a special treat. A meeting with the Stake Presidency is to be held Saturday for all Elders and dates.

All BYU students who have attended Snow College are invited to a "SNOW" CLUB party, today in Family Life Unit No. 15, in the recreation room at accompanied by Lt. Col. Stay, were conducted on a tour of the Hill Air Force Base, recently.

Fifteen men were awarded full knighthood in the INTERCOLLEGIATE KNIGHTS, national honorary service fraternity, after having successfully completed one quarter as pages. The new knights are Ray Andrus, Stephen Barret, Art Clawson, Ken Cooper, Ralph Remington, Reed Dene, Lynn Geddes, Ray Lee, Nile Jensen, Elmo Kellen, LeVar Marsh, Sterling Rigby, Alan Thomsander, and Val Walters. SKI STYLES—Clad in the latest winter styles, Reed Jenkins, Pendleton, Ore., Norma Parrist, Centerville, and Jay Hansen, Portland, Ore., gaze at the snow covered slopes.

Sports Fans Don Warm Togs To Tackle Slippery Slopes

The abundance of fluffy white snow was a cheerful sight for most campus winter sports enthusiasts. With the Snow Carnival drawing near and fun galore planned for the coming week-end, thoughts of warm and stylish outdoor clothing are uppermost in the mind of the well-dressed student.

Nylon Windbreaker

A good costume for that coming toboggan party could be a nylon windbreaker in one of a variety of bright colors. Nylon seems to be a favorite fabric as it can take a lot of rough wear, and will keep you warm and dry. The bright colors will also help in separating you from the drifts of snow after a wrong turn of the toboggan.

However, last weekend's parties are in any way indicative of what can be expected you can count on lots of laughter and fun along with the rented clothing and badly bruised morphoses. But above all, you will want to be dressed warily and comfortably to keep that damp snow and ice from keeping you out of class come the following Monday.

Skiing Attire

Groups of our enthusiastic skiers (with some Utahns present) observed leaving each afternoon for Tim Haven's upper slopes and deep folds of snow are appropriately attired in a variety of ski-togs. Most popular among the boys seems to be the loose pullover jacket in black, navy, and tan, with a few preferring heavy sweaters instead to keep that icy wind on the outside.

Girls seem inclined toward the brighter shades of red, green, and yellow, with matching down hill ski pants. A few of the lucky ones were even sporting the latest thing in jackets, soft white leather worn in either the boxy, belted, or half belted styles.

MASK CLUB

"Heat Lightning," a one-act drama directed by Carmia Collett will be presented at Monday's Mask Club meeting. The meeting is set for 7 p.m. in College Hall and everyone is invited. Admission is ten cents or a Mask Club membership card.

OPERA

A special group of singers from the Brigham Young University Opera Workshop group will present three numbers to-night on a program for the Wool Grower's Association meeting in Salt Lake City. The program will be presented in the LaPoyette Ballroom of the Hotel Utah.

Kentucky Hangs On In AP Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—On the impetus of a 97-71 victory over Tennessee last Saturday night, Kentucky's Wildcats hung on primarily to first place in this week's Associated Press basketball poll.

The Wildcats, undefeated in 12 games, were followed in the ratings by also unbeaten Duquesne. The Dukes, who have won 15 games in as many outings, were idle during this past week. They tackled Georgetown Wednesday night in Pittsburgh.

Indiana, Third
 Indiana ranked third, with Oleahoma A&M and Western Kentucky tied for fourth. The Hoosiers were idle over the weekend and remain in that state until Feb. 1, when the clash with highly-regarded Louisville.

Semester Finals
 Because schools on the semester system are engaged in final exams this week, the action on the nation's basketball front will be somewhat tapered off this weekend.

1. Kentucky (19-0)
2. Duquesne (19-0)
3. Indiana (12-1)
4. The Oklahoma A&M (16-1)
5. and Western Kentucky (16-0)
6. Notre Dame (19-0)
7. Holy Cross (12-1)
8. Minnesota (12-1)
9. Oklahoma City (11-2)
10. Georgia (Washington (12-1)
11. Seattle (12-1)
12. LaSalle (12-1)
13. Maryland (13-2)
14. The California (14-2)
15. and Louisiana State (14-2)
16. The Wichita (14-2)
17. Kansas (14-1)
18. The Connecticut (14-0)
19. and Dayton (14-4)
20. Duke (12-4)

SHERM SHOOTS—Brigham Young's bespectacled Sherm Crump (10) shoots a one-hander as Utah State's Ivan Morrison (7) defends. Cougar Dean Larsen (7) moves toward the basket. BYU avenged only conference defeat 75-63.

Washington Hosts Cats; Pokes, Rams in Crucials

Action involving Skyline Conference teams this weekend will see league-leading Wyoming and Colorado A&M threatened at Utah State and Montana while Brigham Young and Utah U. put on a portion of Skyline Eight prestige on the line in games with Washington and California universities.

At Washington there should be plenty of fur flying when the Brigahms and Huskies get their intersectional fray underway. Currently, the Cats are leading the league in team and individual scoring and rebounding but are badly in need of the road experience these games may offer. This is pointed out by the fact that the Cougars have lost five out of seven road games this season while sporting a nifty 26 game winning streak at home.

The Huskies, hit hard by graduation this year, sport a poor (1-14) record—with, however, reservations. Their losses have mostly been by narrow margins indicating that the Washingtonians, although building, are potentially dangerous. In fact, against St. Louis—the Cats' and Washington's only common opponent — the Northwesters fared better, even though losing, than their coming opponents did.

Back in the Hilltop conference games, Wyoming will meet Montana Friday night and Utah State Saturday evening. The latter game could possibly have a determining force on the Skyline standings since the Aggies have always had more than their share of luck in dealing with the Cowboys. As for as Colorado A&M is concerned, Wyoming's plight is of no relief to the Buffs as they play Wyoming's opponents on alternate nights.

Less Wooded Hurt
 A let down in either game, providing Wyoming with its games, would knock the Cougars out of their share in the Skyline leadership. Rounding out this week's league schedule, the New Mexico Lobos will be at Denver in an affair that will decide a temporary conference collar chieftain.

Utah's intersectional trials will find Coach Jack Gardner's charges facing a pair of tangles with the Golden Bears from California. At present, the Californians are tied for 14th position and are favored to win their conference championship. The Bears, of course, should run their record total to 16 by toppling the mediocre Redskins.

NCAA Perils Wildcat Stars

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A newspaper's report that three top Kentucky basketball players apparently will be ineligible for the NCAA Tournament started a flurry of action on the Wildcat campus this week.

Athletic Director Bernie Shively said he would look into the matter immediately. In Tuesday's Louisville Courier-Journal, staff writer Larry Beck said Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos apparently are ineligible for the tournament under an NCAA rule disqualifying graduate students.

Players Have Degrees
Tsioropoulos received his bachelor of arts degree last August. Hagan, an All-American center two years ago, and Ramsey expect to receive their degrees this month at the end of the current semester.

Kentucky's one-year suspension from the basketball competition for over-emphasizing the sport brought on the new difficulties. Although maintaining their playing eligibility in the Southeastern Conference, the players continued academically.

Pre-Fight Workouts Necessary For 'Fite Nite' Aspirants

Boxers who wish to participate in the annual intramural "Fite Nite," scheduled for the week before term finals, must have at least two weeks' training. Art Saxell, head boxing coach, reported.

The boxing mentor pointed out that the more workouts participants had, the better it would be, but two weeks' training is absolutely essential. Aspirants are invited to use the facilities and equipment in the boxing room of the fieldhouse between 5 and 5 p.m.

Referees for the fistic event, Mr. Saxell and H. Wayne Stoffe, will monitor the bouts closely so that if any boy is injured or outclassed, the fight will be stopped immediately.

Nilson's Grappler's To Meet Redskins

Coach Reed Nilson's Brigham Young wrestlers travel to Salt Lake City Friday for a match with the Utah grapplers at 4 p.m. in the Ute fieldhouse.

The Cougars should be favored in the match off their previous showing against Utah State. BYU whipped the Aggies, 25-7, while the Utes lost to the same squad 23-8. BYU is expected to win primarily in the lighter weights.

*Non-conference games

While viewing last Friday and Saturday evenings' games with Montana and Utah State in the Cougar fieldhouse, I noticed a few things—some good, some bad—which I would like to comment on. Let's start with the good.

It appears that the mayor of Redlands, Calif. (or so he says), big Nick Mateljan, has finally gotten on the ball. That great night he had Saturday, scoring 26 points against Utah State, proves that "the bouncer can play a good game if he wants to," as one sports writer remarked to me in the press box after the game.

He's Running!
Seeing Mateljan run is a rarity for some people, especially one who was sitting within earshot of me at the Logan game a couple of weeks ago. During the crucial fourth quarter, the Aggies grabbed a rebound and pulled of a fast break. As Nick came lumbering down the floor in hot pursuit of his opposing center Bill Hull, the gentleman behind me cracked, "Look! Mateljan's running!"

Now let me comment about a few things that were not so good. Saturday night about 5:45, a few of us early arrivals were waiting to get inside the Fieldhouse to see the Frosh game. A group of faculty members, who were serving as gatemen, stubbornly kept the doors closed until six, leaving us in the freezing weather outside. Come now, profs, how silly can we get?

Some Officials Give Me A Pain
I usually don't make a practice of griping about officiating, but I noticed one thing Saturday night that burned me up. The Aggie Cordell Brown leaped high for a rebound and fell to the floor, writhing in pain from a turned ankle. An official was standing not ten feet away from the injured player, but he wouldn't call a time out. BYU Coach Stan Watts jumped off the bench and screamed at the referee, but he wouldn't call a time out. The referee called the play, as Brown rolled over and over on the floor.

Yes, officials like that one give me a pain.

'Farm Quad' Editor Instructs Ag Club

Students in the college of applied sciences at Brigham Young University received instruction from Cecil Hagen, Managing Editor of the Pacific Northwest Farm Quad, Spokane, Wash., last Friday.

Mr. Hagen came to BYU at the request of Dr. Thomas L. Martin, Dean of the college of applied science. He addressed classes in animal husbandry, soils and members of the "Ag Club" discussing the significance of the farm paper, drawfism, feeding, feed testing and beef indexing.

As an editor of the Utah Farmer, the Idaho Farmer, the Washington Farmer and the Oregon Farmer, Mr. Hagen has been in Utah for the past week with David Mann, field editor for the four magazines.

Library Receives Books and Shelves

Brigham Young University's Heber J. Grant Library has eliminated the center aisles on two of its floors in order to accommodate the addition of 6,000 new books, to meet the needs of the student body.

Installation of new metal shelves is nearly completed. Books, pamphlets, and periodicals number 352,000, with three "book-trucks" loads to be delivered this week. Many tons of publications are being handled, during alterations, by students.

James Michener's "Sayonara" is a most recent addition in the lending library division. "Sayonara" concerns a Japanese-American romance, and the book reviews have placed it in a favorable light. Other new fiction and popular non-fiction works are also being added.

HATS OFF—Ag Club members Snel Olsen, Eldon Pulsipher, Phil Shumway, Gail Meacham and Ron Pace display the hats purchased by the members of the Ag Club. Club members will wear the hats one day a week as a distinguishing mark.

Ag Club Members Sport New Western Style Hats

Members of the Brigham Young University Ag Club have added cowboy hats to their wardrobes. The Ag Club members, who wanted to achieve some form of recognition for the group bought the hats out of their own pockets, although only Ag Club members are eligible to wear the particular style purchased.

Members of the Ag Club, which consists of students interested in agriculture and related subjects, participate in varied activities around the campus. Members of the club are active in the Rodeo Club, and also the Livestock

Judging team. The judging team recently made a trip to Denver where they judged in competition with most of the major colleges in the Rocky Mountain area.

The Ag Club which is one of the oldest organizations on campus, has a distinguished past. It has always been one of the most active organizations at the Y and in 1927 it had for president Ezra Tahl Benson, presently Secretary of Agriculture and a member of the Council of Twelve.

The club president for this year is Snel Olsen, from Spanish Fork.

Utah High School Music Symposium Held on Y Campus

A mid-winter music clinic to acquaint high school music teachers with music festival literature on list for performance in spring festivals was held here Saturday, according to Dr. John R. Halliday, music department chairman.

Alf Freeman, principal of Box Elder High School, was guest speaker at a luncheon held for music teachers and administrators midway in the day's activities.

The annual clinic serves to acquaint music teachers and contest judges with festival literature to insure uniformity of judging and to improve teaching abilities. Guest experts conducted workshops to help with various problems involved in accomplishing these aims.

The clinic is sponsored by the Utah High School Activities Association and Utah Music Education Association.

Students are reminded that although the full price is $6, the Banyan may be secured for $3 down, the balance payable by March 15. The more banyans that are sold, the more added features, because of lower costs on volume production. If 6300 are sold there will be a 25 cent refund to each purchaser.

Mr. Hayes remarked that the Banyan will be worth far more in later years than monetary value, because of the memories and the record of events transpired which it contains.

Sardoni Visits Ohio Session

During Jan. 23 to Feb. 5 Brigham Young University symphony orchestra conductor and music faculty member Lawrence Sardoni, will participate in a Conductor's Workshop with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra.

This workshop is under the direction of George Sell, musical director of the Cleveland Orchestra who currently is serving as guest conductor of the New York Philharmonic Symphony.

Mr. Sardoni will attend ten rehearsals and five concerts of the Cleveland orchestra under Mr. Sell, and will conduct the Cleveland orchestra during several of the special workshop sessions. Mr. Sell will give his personal critiques at the end of each conduction session.

The workshop is made possible by the American Symphony Orchestra League and through the financial generosity of Mrs. E. J. Kulas, a patron of the educational work of the Cleveland orchestra.

U of Chicago Gives Law Scholarship

A scholarship to the University of Chicago Law School has been awarded to Brigham Young University, according to Professor Stewart L. Grow, assistant professor of history and political science. This award will cover tuition and fees for three full years of legal training and will be granted before April.

Interested students should submit their applications to Professor Grow, 287 Physical Science Building. According to Prof. Grow, only a comparatively small number of "leading" universities are granted this scholarship.
